WELCOME HOME

Over 150 years ago, people from all walks of life were drawn westward in search of hope and prosperity. These were the pioneers. Now, people of all ethnicities and all different backgrounds are settled here, creating the uniquely diverse community it is today. Times have changed since the pioneers first arrived, but the spirit of Welcome Home continues to thrive at Painted Prairie. Today, this is where prairie meets city and urban meets suburban. Where you find the balance of indoor and outdoor getaways, all in a safe and secure neighborhood. Where diversity and inclusion — of people, of ideas, of architecture — are of the utmost importance. The belief here is simple. When neighbors become your friends, you elevate life for all. And when you're a creator of community — a place to call home — you're a part of something great, something bigger than yourself. These values, these ideals — this is what you'll find at Painted Prairie.

Welcome Home to Painted Prairie.

They're creating a life they've always dreamed of living — exploring more than 30 acres of open space, meeting neighbors at community events, planting in the community gardens, enjoying their brand new homes, and relishing in the balance of urban and suburban.

A Neo-Traditional Life

At Painted Prairie, home is more than the spaces inside your walls. Our neo-traditional community is a fresh alternative for aspiring residents who want it all. The neo-traditional philosophy pairs a revival of traditional styles and ways of life with the best current technology, elements, and influences. From our modern homes inspired by historical architecture to eco-friendly parks designed for optimal pedestrian connectivity and streetscapes that focus on the front porch, Painted Prairie embodies the neo-traditional ideal. First-time buyers and empty nesters alike will find that the life they're seeking is already here.
